

PERSONAL GENOME PROFILE 2:

The Personal Genome Project (PGP) recruits people to have their entire genome sequenced and to have their results, together with personal data about their health and their lives, made publicly available online. Steven Pinker, author and Harvard psychology Professor volunteered to be one of the first recruits (PGP6).

<https://my.pgp-hms.org/profile/hu04FD18>

<http://www.nytimes.com/2009/01/11/magazine/11Genome-t.html>

MAGAZINE | My Genome, My Self

Magazine

My Genome, My Self

By STEVEN PINKER JAN. 7, 2009

Connect with the Garvan Institute's Kinghorn Centre for Clinical Genomics:

Visit us <http://www.garvan.org.au/kccg>

Follow our newsfeed on Twitter @kinghorngenomes

Email us at kccgenquiries@garvan.org.au

KINGHORN
CENTRE
FOR CLINICAL GENOMICS

